MANUELA HAMILFORD

Founder & Creative Director of Hamilford Design

Manuela Hamilford began her career renovating friends' houses, gradually building her skills and vision into what is now Hamilford Design. With Italian roots, early professional experience in New York, and now a London base, she has shaped a practice recognised for relaxed luxury and a natural, effortless sophistication.

Her portfolio stretches from London townhouses, country estates to luxury restaurants, but its most ambitious project to date is a major renovation contract for one of the capital's most prestigious luxury hotels. This move into hospitality marks an exciting new chapter for the studio, expanding its reputation beyond private homes and placing Manuela firmly on the international design stage. Her rise from self-taught beginnings to large-scale commissions highlights a talent with both authenticity and momentum, an emerging voice reshaping the landscape of contemporary luxury.
